India-Japan Collaborative Seminar 2009 (IJCS'09)

at IIT Delhi

Brief Background and Indicative Program

India-Japan collaborations is an area of focus at IIT Delhi, and our teams have been working on that for more than a decade. Several pioneering initiatives have been taken by us over the years to facilitate learning and exchanges of students, researchers and faculty between the two large economies of the world and to contribute to evolve “Strategic and Global Partnership” between the two countries.

Objectives: Key objective of the seminar is to evolve new approaches to India-Japan collaboration by learning from experiences of veterans as well emerging reality from projects of young researchers. Hence, several experienced professionals from academia, government and industry have been invited to share their views and interact with friends of India-Japan collaborations.
