2) Obtaining “Student” Status of Residence (Visa Status)

(1) For those who do not hold a status of residence in Japan.

Rikkyo University will apply to the Immigration Services Agency of Japan for a “Certificate of Eligibility” (COE) on behalf of the student. The screening process typically takes approximately 2 to 3 months.

After the COE is issued, please apply for and obtain a “Student” visa at a Japanese embassy or consulate in your home country before entering Japan.

*Proxied applications to the Immigration Bureau cannot be processed until both the enrollment procedures and registration with the IRIS system (Rikkyo University residency management system) are complete, which will significantly impact the timing of your entry into Japan. As there is a risk that you may not arrive in time for orientation, please complete the necessary procedures promptly after passing the entrance examination.

*While it is possible for the applicant to apply for a visa directly in their home country, please do not use this method as the issuance may take a very long time.

(Please note)

It takes time for the "Certificate of Eligibility" to be issued. For some entrance examinations, it may not be possible to obtain the status of residence in time even if the necessary procedures are completed immediately after passing. Please carefully confirm the period from the announcement of passing to enrollment and exercise caution when deciding which examination to take.
